DEVELOPMENT 101

Barbara Ball-McClure
Senior Director of Constituent Programs and Campaign Director
University of Idaho
BASIC TYPES OF SUPPORT

• Student
• Faculty
• Program
• Facility
DEVELOPMENT CYCLE

• Identification
• Cultivation
• Solicitation
• Stewardship/cultivation again
The key to a strong development program is to build strong relationships with your constituency in support of your institution.

It is NOT all about you – it is about the university and the alumni, faculty and friends.
ASK THE PROSPECT WHAT THEY ARE INTERESTED IN SUPPORTING

Don’t assume you know where their interests lie and don’t lead them. Ask the question and the LISTEN!!!

You will get more money in the long run if you work with them to meet their needs and desires.
If a donor/prospect is a high level executive or public personality then you may be needed to help open the door, but later the development officer should be able to work with them to design the gift without you! Then, you can go back to celebrate the gift! If you don’t have a designated development officer, then work with central development personnel until such time as you can build a case for your own!
PLAN AND EVALUATE

• Need an annual operating plan with who you will see when and about what!
• Use your travel time wisely.
• Develop a budget beyond personnel.
• Metrics for evaluation – yours and development officer
  • Visits/significant contacts
  • Dollars
DEVELOPMENT TAKES TIME

You may never see the results of your efforts, but it’s worth it for the strength and integrity of the program, as well as to benefit the current students and those yet to come.

GIFT RANGE CALCULATIONS

Gift Range Calculator

Planning a capital campaign? Trying to fund a new program? We can help. This tool will calculate the range of gifts you will need to achieve your campaign goal so that you can adjust resources or goals as necessary. This approach is based on industry standards that fundraising professionals have been using for decades. This approach is applicable for capital campaigns but can be adapted for annual appeals.

It’s easy! Just enter the goal amount for your campaign, hit the Calculate button and see your gift range!

If you use Internet Explorer, you can print or export the chart (into Excel for example) so you can share it with your colleagues and board. Get everyone involved in your nonprofit’s success with this free Gift Range Calculator!

NOTE: Do not include extra characters in your Goal Amount, such as dollar signs, commas, or spaces.
