

UNIVERSITY OF JOHANNESBURG

SARChI Chair Teaching and Learning: Seminar Series 2023

The SARChI Teaching and Learning Prof Shireen Motala invite you to a seminar on:

Decolonial supervision pedagogies: enabling the sociologies of emergence in doctoral education.

Presenter: Prof Catherine Manathunga, University of the Sunshine Coast (USC), Australia.

DATE ▪ Tuesday 26 September 2023

TIME ▪ 11:30 – 13:00

VENUE ▪ The Ethical Foundation Conference Room , Madibeng , UJ APK Campus (hybrid event)

Click here to join the online conversation.

Professor Catherine Manathunga (PhD) is a Professor of Education Research in the School of Education and Tertiary Access (SETA) at The University of the Sunshine Coast (USC), Australia. She is the Associate Dean (Research) in SETA and Co-Director of the Indigenous and Transcultural Research Centre at USC. She is an historian who draws together expertise in historical, sociological and cultural studies research to bring an innovative perspective to higher education research. Her current research is focused on First Nations and transcultural education, decolonisation, academic subjectivities, critical university studies and university histories.

For enquiries contact ▪ Ms Thembela Cebekulu at thembelac@uj.ac.za

The Future Reimagined