9:00 AM - 11:00 AM

PRE-MEETING WORKSHOPS (PRE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED)

NON-DEGREE CREDENTIALS: DEFINING AND ASSESSING QUALITY

MONUMENT

Graduate certificates, microcredentials, and other types of non-degree credentials have proliferated in recent years. But how do we know if these credentials are any good? This session will examine the problem of defining quality for non-degree credentials and lay out frameworks for assessing and measuring credential quality in this fast-moving market.

Speakers: Julie Masterson, Associate Provost and Dean, Graduate College, Missouri State University

Chris Nelson, Dean, School of Graduate Studies, University of North Dakota

REVIEW OF GRADUATE PROGRAMS: MASTER'S AND DOCTORAL

INDEPENDENCE F-H

Assessing the quality of master's and doctoral programs is essential for effective decision making and optimal impact. The presenters will provide strategies for meaningful and manageable program review. Participants will discuss review processes using program outcomes for impact, and directions needed for innovation, and change. Presenters will conclude with perspectives on how to include data and how to incorporate feedback from external reviewers and accreditation requirements into program reviews.

Speakers: Karin Elliott Brown, Associate Vice President and Dean, Graduate Studies, California State University, Los Angeles

Effrosyni (Faye) Diamantoudi, Dean, Graduate Studies, Concordia University

Peter Harries, Dean, Graduate School, North Carolina State University

MASTERING MENTORSHIPCAPITOL

This workshop will provide participants with a mentoring toolkit for enhancing their mentoring relationships and for supporting other mentoring relationships at their university. Participants will learn how to clarify goals and expectations, establish a mutual evaluation process, and bring these relationships to a successful conclusion. Participants also will learn strategies to support healthier conflict and promote trust in these relationships. Participants will be actively engaged throughout this interactive workshop.

Speaker: Katharine Stewart, Senior Vice Provost, Faculty and Academic Affairs, North Carolina State University

LEGAL CHALLENGES TO DEI AND GENDER EQUITY PROGRAMS AND POLICIESSUPREME COURT

Over the years, there have been mounting legal challenges to DEI and Gender Equity programs and policies at higher education institutions. As graduate schools continue to foster an inclusive environment for all, we must be aware of federal and state legislative efforts to limit DEI and Gender Equity programs and policies. This session will provide an overview of our community's legal challenges and how deans can engage university generals' counsel and campus officials.

*Speakers: Lisa Loo, Senior Vice President and General Counsel, Arizona State University
Heidi Tsu, Assistant Vice President, National Engagement, American Council on Education*

LUNCH ON YOUR OWN2:00 PM - 4:00 PM*PRE-MEETING WORKSHOPS (PRE-REGISTRATION REQUIRED)*DEVELOPING A HEALTHY LABS AND RESEARCH TEAM CULTURE*SUPREME COURT

The research lab is a key pillar of graduate training. The University of Toronto Healthy Labs & Research Teams initiative identifies and celebrates practices that contribute to healthy research environments where individuals are valued and supported in their diverse research careers. Join us to learn about creating a lab culture based on a framework of equity, diversity, and inclusion; collaboration; leadership; research innovation and integrity; supervision and mentorship; and wellbeing.

Speaker: Joshua Barker, Dean, School of Graduate Studies and Vice-Provost, Graduate Research and Education, University of Toronto

GLOBALIZATION AND THE DIVERSITY, INCLUSION AND JUSTICE AGENDAINDEPENDENCE F-H

International students are integral to a multicultural graduate experience. Although many work in labs with faculty and students from their home country, they often experience racism rather than a sense of belonging. How can graduate administrators develop programs and communities that better connect and support international students? What partnerships will advance this work? Learn about effective globalization and DEI initiatives currently underway at CGS member universities.

*Speakers: James Antony, Dean, Graduate Division, University of California, San Diego
Anjam Chaudhary, Diversity, Inclusion, and Equity Program Coordinator, International Student Programs, Michigan State University
Janet Rutledge, Vice Provost and Dean, Graduate School, University of Maryland, Baltimore County*

EMERGING MODELS OF WRITING SUPPORT FOR GRADUATE STUDENTSCAPITOL

For the past two decades Thesis and Dissertation Writing Boot Camps have proliferated to support graduate students in their degree completion. So what's new and innovative? Join us to discuss emerging models of writing support that include collaborative writing, centralizing research and writing support, virtual events supporting non-resident students, writing as community building, and institutions partnering for virtual events that help students expand their disciplinary and interdisciplinary networks.

Speakers: Tabbetha Dobbins, Dean, School of Graduate Studies, Rowan University

Mary Newsome, Assistant Dean, Graduate Learning Support (GLS), The Office of Graduate Studies, Qatar University

Kristina Quynn, Assistant Dean, Graduate School and Director, CSU Writes, Colorado State University

Adham Ramadan, Dean, Graduate Studies, American University in Cairo

FUNDRAISING FOR GRADUATE EDUCATION

MONUMENT

As the need for additional support for graduate education increases, securing external funding from a variety of sources is essential. This workshop will outline fundraising strategies for graduate education with a focus on development fundamentals, building cases for support, and identifying potential donors among alumni, employer, and regional stakeholder networks. Collaborating within the university on fundraising goals and access to resources will also be covered.

Speakers: Michele Siegal, Director, Development and Alumni Relations, Rackham Graduate School, University of Michigan

Michael Solomon, Dean, Graduate Studies and Vice Provost, Academic Affairs, University of Michigan

Claudia Petrescu, Vice Provost, Graduate Education and Dean, Graduate School, Kansas State University

GRADUATE EDUCATION FOR A CHANGING WORLD-LAPIDUS LECTURE

The LaPidus lecture was established to honor the late Jules B. LaPidus, a past-president of CGS. The lecture is delivered each year by international leaders and visionary thinkers.

Changing labor markets, student demographics, and geopolitical realities challenge university administrators and graduate educators to rethink the way research is conducted and disseminated, the curriculum is organized, and the funding models that underlie both. Join three higher education leaders in this plenary as they explore the implications of these trends for better educating and nurturing the scientists and scholars we will need to solve today and tomorrow's pressing challenges.

CREATING A SENSE OF COMMUNITY AND BELONGING FOR MASTER'S STUDENTS

SHAW/LE DROIT PARK

With the expansion of online learning and micro-credentials, traditional master's programs have increased access to the degree. Unfortunately, some master's students lack connection to campus as they juggle work and personal obligations. In this session, learn how master's programs are creating a sense of community and belonging—including through interactive online experiences—that supports student retention and success.

Speakers: James Ahern, Associate Vice Provost, Graduate Education, University of Wyoming

Wendy Boland, Dean, Graduate and Professional Studies, American University

Kerry Wilks, Dean, Graduate School and Associate Vice President, International Affairs, Northern Illinois University

LIKE A BRIDGE OVER TROUBLED WATER: DYSFUNCTION AS A MECHANISM FOR SYSTEMATIC CHANGE

CAPITOL/CONGRESS

CSGS organized session

In difficult financial times, a university can underappreciate the need for a functional centralized graduate school by dividing the unit or by reducing funding. Cost-saving measures are often regretted after a few years when the inability of other academic units to cover the missing functions is belatedly recognized. We present two case studies of institutions that allowed their centralized graduate school model to either lapse or to become outgrown and the efforts needed to restore their functionalities.
